

DAIMLER

Reference for Anna Murray

I have known Anna Murray since 2007 when she did an Internship at the Headquarters of Daimler AG in Stuttgart, Germany.

During her Internship, Anna proved to be a very competent and reliable employee. She is an excellent team player in many respects - bringing valuable ideas to projects and ensuring that her work is done to a very high standard and in a timely manner. Her communication skills are excellent both in her native English and in German. Her contacts varied considerably during her time with Daimler - ranging from internal communications with various levels throughout the organisation and also with external customers all of which she managed very well.

Anna has high degree of cultural awareness and sensitivity and enjoys getting to know new people, places and cultures. She has a great sense of humour and many interests ranging from cultural (especially dance and music) to sports and travel. She threw herself into all aspect of life in Germany during her relatively short time here with great gusto.

Anna and I have stayed in contact during the past 3 years, at first when she returned to complete her degree in the University of Limerick in Ireland (also my Alma Mater) at the end of her Internship and later when she moved to Dubai.

I would consider that Anna is an excellent candidate for the Postgraduate Certificate in Education in the Middle East. She is a very bright, dedicated and enthusiastic lady whom I am sure will be an asset to any educational institute anywhere in the world. Her great interest and openness to other cultures ensures that she can be very successful in education in the Middle East region.
